FOR BETTER SOLDIERS

(New York Times)

By its very nature life in barracks never can be the same as life at the home. But as General Latham said in his address before the National Council of Social Studies in Chicago, life in the army need not be "a civic vacuum," "an educational wasteland," "a moral slum." It is not the intention of our army commanders to let it be such for the modern soldier of today's modern army. After their war experience they know that the educated man who has some knowledge of what he is fighting for and what he is fighting against makes the better soldier.

The families whose sons are being taken into the army under selective service, as well as those whose sons have volunteered for that or one of the other branches of military service, should be reassured by General Latham's words. Under the program set up by the army's troop information and education division, which General Latham formerly headed, the chances are good that the soldier of today will return to his home after two or three years of service a better-schooled citizen than he might have been had he remained in civilian life. The old-time buck sergeant may sneer at these information and education programs, but we believe he will find few to agree with him. The world moves, and so do army procedures and practices. And for the better, we believe.

A Gazelle Hunt On The Libyan Desert

By George Tucker (For Hal Boyle)

New York—(AP)—In those fateful days of 1943 when the Libyan desert was a graveyard for military reputations, there was a British heavy ack-ack detachment stationed at nearby Wadi Tamet.

It was my fortune to know its commander, a Colonel Haxworth, who had headed the anti-aircraft defenses of London in 1940 and had come now to help chase Rommel out of Africa.

Haxworth, a pipe smoker, was a big man with a square face. He was the best rifle shot I ever saw. At a time when the army was living on canned stew it was worth noting that his table had plenty of wild desert turkey and gazelle.

Now the bird Haxworth called a turkey was actually a bustard, an elongated old world fowl not unlike plover in taste and in high repute as a game bird.

Resemble Deer
Gazelles are a form of antelope with small recurved horns and large liquid eyes. They resemble tiny deer, and anyone who hasn't seen them in their wild state knows very little of beauty and grace.

I had been in the desert for weeks and had seen nothing alive except men and dogs. We were moving across wilderness of sand, rock, and Camelthorn, and in all that wasteland for hundreds of miles there wasn't a single drop of water. Not a river, not a creek, nor a spring was to be found. And there was absolutely no cover.

"How can they hide, and how can they live without water?"

"Maybe they live on dew," Haxworth said. "But they're there and they can hide. I'll show you."

Early next morning we got into a truck and, with the colonel's orderly driving, started off. We were moving at about 30 miles an hour and had traveled about 10 miles when the colonel nudged me.

"There's a bustard. Take him." He shoved a 303 rifle into my hands. I could make out the bird running on the ground about 200 yards ahead of us.

Fired And Missed
When I hesitated, I fired and missed, undershooting it by two feet. When I fired again it bounced into the air but settled down again, unharmed. After I had missed the third time Haxworth gently took the rifle and shot away its head. At 200 yards.

After admiring our fowl for some time, which turned out to be slightly larger and heavier than a cock pheasant, we move on across a desert seemingly so bare that a field mouse, I thought, would have difficulty finding cover.

But presently a band of gazelles jumped up ahead of us. When we drew within range we were traveling at 45 miles an hour. We singled out a buck and the colonel took him nearly with the second shot. In the next hour Haxworth killed four others, all bucks, and he wasted few shots.

Then it was my turn. But when we jumped the next pair we had difficulty in overtaking them. The trucks and the depressions in the desert floor caused the car to bounce erratically, so that it was almost impossible to hold the sights on that fleeing, beautiful animal. I can't remember how long this gazelle maintained that a heart-breaking speed of 45 miles an hour. We hounded him for six or seven miles. I emptied the gun at him, but at the end of the chase it was still on its feet. He had stopped running because he couldn't go any further. He just stood there, about 25 yards away, looking at me.

If I had not killed him then he would have died anyway. Gazelles never stop running until they break their hearts. Later, many were run down by soldiers in jeeps and captured, but they always died.

Looking back on a war where the sight of dead men was a commonplace, I remember a gazelle in that strange land of Camelthorn, sand and rock, and the terrible question in his eyes.

Throne Shines as Bootblack Stand

After descending from what is probably the world's gaudiest bootblack stand, a customer is helped on with his coat by Genaro Esposito, enterprising Neapolitan bootblack. The stand is a throne, apparently "liberated" by Esposito, that once stood in the royal palace of Naples. Police wink at his unorthodox use of the ornate relic and even overlook his overcharging. PREXY TRADES WITH STUDENT
Carthage, Ill.—(P)—Dr. Erlend Nelson, president of Carthage college, and John Bickers, a junior, traded places for a day. The prexy, chewing gum and wearing a pull-over sweater, went to classes. The pupil, stiffish in a starched white shirt and conservative suit, ran the front office.

Commented Bickers: "Being president is easy. I could call on three secretaries to do the work."

Countered Nelson: "A student's life is gay and carefree. I didn't realize our coeds were so pretty."

Only 10 per cent of the total land area of Illinois is classed as forest today.

Fire Destroys Lankford Home At Merritt

The two story frame home of Mrs. Vera Lankford of Merritt was destroyed by fire Sunday morning, the flames being whipped by a high wind which handicapped firefighters who made an effort to save the property. A large amount of household goods was saved.

Mrs. Lankford discovered the blaze about 9:30 a.m. Residents of the village tried to halt the flames which apparently started from a flue. An alarm was sent to the Winchester fire department which sent a truck to Merritt within a short time.

The Winchester firefighters were handicapped by lack of water, but the house was already doomed to destruction. Firemen kept a close watch on nearby buildings, including the school house. Although sparks fell near other buildings none was damaged.

Virginia Millspaugh Weds George Hargett

Woodson Church Scene Of Pretty Ceremony Sunday

An altar banked with yellow chrysanthemums and white snapdragons, arranged amidst a setting of ferns and candlelight, provided a lovely background for the marriage of Virginia Millspaugh and George E. Hargett, which was solemnized Sunday afternoon in a three o'clock ceremony performed at the Woodson Christian church by the Rev. A. D. Hermann.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Paul Andras of Manchester sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning." She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Maurice Self of Jacksonville, who played the traditional wedding marches. Other piano selections included "O Promise Me," "Vendian Love Song," "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

Attending the couple were the bride's sister, Mrs. R. A. Emmons of Springfield, who served as matron of honor, and Fred Selhmyer of Palmyra, who acted as best man.

The ushers were R. A. Emmons of Springfield, Forrest E. Lilly of Jacksonville, C. M. White of Modesto and Paul Andras of Manchester.

Bride Wears Blue

For her marriage the bride chose a suit of soft blue gabardine, complemented with black accessories. She carried a white orchid.

The matron of honor was attired in a gabardine suit of slate gray. Her accessories were black and white and she carried an orchid.

A reception honoring the couple was given in the church dining room.

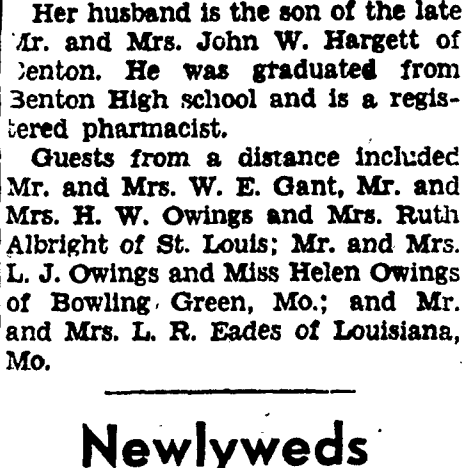

Serving was done by Mrs. Forrest E. Lilly and Mrs. Ruby Bryant, both of Jacksonville, and Mrs. Gifford Evans of Delavan.

Will Live In Palmyra

The couple then left on a wedding trip, after which they will be at home in Palmyra, where the groom is proprietor of a drug store. The bride will open a beauty shop there shortly after the first of the year.

Mrs. Hargett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Owings of Woodson. She was graduated from Woodson High school and the Lockwood School of Beauty Culture. She formerly operated the Glamour

Waltz into Darkness

BY WILLIAM IRISH
Copyright by William Irish—Distributed by MSA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: After his meeting with Down, Durand and his family are on the run again. They go from place to place, finally ending up in Pensacola, where they take a house, because it is less conspicuous than hotel living.

XXXXIII

THE discovery was catastrophic—sudden, though it shouldn't have been. One moment, they were affluent, he could afford to give her anything she wanted. The next, they were destitute.

It shouldn't have been as unforeseen as all that, he had to admit to himself; shouldn't have taken them unaware like that. There had been no theft, save at his own hands; nothing like that. But there had been no replenishment either. A vanishing point was bound to be reached eventually. It had been imminent for some time, if he'd only taken the trouble to make inventory. But he hadn't; perhaps he'd been afraid to, afraid in his own mind of the too-exact knowledge that he would have derived from such a summing up: the certainty of termination.

"How much have we?" she asked when he finally could bring himself to tell her.

"Two hundred and some," he answered.

She came close to him and put her hand to the outside of his arm.

"There are two things can be done," she said. "We can either sit and do nothing with it, until it is all gone. Or we can take it and set it to work for us."

He simply looked up at her; this time there was a flaw in their mutual understanding.

"I have known many men with less than two hundred for a stake to run it up to two or three thousand."

She kept her hand on his arm, as if the thought were entering her there in some way, and not by word of mouth. It still failed to.

"Do you know any card games?" she persisted.

"There was one I used to play with Jardine in our younger days, of an evening. Bezique, I think. I scarcely remember."

"I mean real games," she interrupted impatiently.

He understood her, then.

"You mean gamble with it? Risk it?"

She shook her head, more impatient than ever. "Only fools gamble with it. Only fools risk it. I'll show you how to play so that you're sure of running up your two hundred."

He saw what she really meant, then.

"Cheat," he said tonelessly. "Oh no, Bonny."

She flung her head away from him, then brought it back again. "If there's anything that sickens me, it's a saintly man. You should be wearing your collar back-to-front. Very well. We'll say no more about it. Sit and nurse your two hundred until it is all gone."

THE first day after this, she was simply less communicative, perhaps, a shade less friendly.

But by that night, already, a chill was beginning. The temperature of her mood was going down steadily.

By the second day dislike had begun to sprout like a noxious weed, overrunning everything in what was once a pleasant garden.

Within but an additional day of that, the weeds had flowered into poisonous, rancid fruit.

There was a sharp edge to her tongue now, the velvet was wearing thin in places. The least provocative remark of his might touch one of them, strike a flinty answer.

He took refuge in long walks. They were a surcease, for when he took them he was not without her; when he took them he had her with him as she had been until

Officers Named By Kum-Join-Us Club At Meredosia

Meredosia — The Kum-Join-Us club elected its 1949 officers at a meeting held with Mrs. Richard Clark and Mrs. James Major. Games and contests were enjoyed during the social period, and refreshments were served.

The Woman's Missionary society of St. John's Lutheran church will meet Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the parish hall, with Mrs. Charles Wegeholt as hostess. Mrs. Oscar Norrtrup will have charge of the topic and Ruth Ernest will give a reading. The thank offering thought will be presented by Blanche Benson. Alice Welch will conduct the magazine quiz.

The December meeting of the Meredosia Woman's club will be held Monday evening at the high school. A Christmas gift exchange will take place.

Latest aid for typists is a ribbon-writer, an attachment for standard typewriters, by means of which from one to five copies may be made without the use of carbon paper, producing letters all of which look like the original.

"I'll get a job, if this affects you so much," he blurted out at last. "I'm capable, there's no reason why I—"

He met with scant approval. "I hate a man that works!" she said through tight-gripped teeth. "I could have married a dray horse if I'd wanted that. It'd be just about as dull." Then gave him a cutting look, as if he had no real wish to better their state. "There must be some way besides that, that you could get your hands on some money for us."

He wondered uneasily what she meant by that, and yet was afraid to know, afraid to have it made any clearer.

"Only fools work," she added contemptuously. "Someone told me that a long time ago, and I believe it now more than ever."

"He must have been a scallawag," was all he could think to say.

There was defiance in her cold blue eyes. "He was a scallawag," she granted, "but he was good company. What good are you to me? You're no good to me at all."

"No, I suppose I'm not," he said, eyes hard now, face bitter. "The wind has changed now. Now that I have nothing left. Now that you've had everything out of me that's to be had. You greedy little leech. Are you sure you haven't overlooked anything?" He was trembling now with emotion. His hands sought into his pockets, turning their linings out with the violence of their seeking. "Here." He dragged some coins out, flung them full at her face. "Here's something you missed. And here, have this too." He ripped the jeweling stickpin from his tie, cast that at her. "And that's all there is. An insurance policy among my papers somewhere, and maybe you'd like me to cut my own throat to profit you—but unfortunately it's not in force."

It's Hot Flying In Cold Stratosphere

Washington—(P)—Jet and rocket planes flying high in the bitter cold of the stratosphere need cabin coolers instead of heaters.

Outside the cockpit the air is 67 degrees below zero. But without a refrigerator, the inside temperature would be 111 degrees at 10,000 miles an hour.

Flying at lower altitudes, say 10,000 feet with an outside temperature of 64 degrees, the 1,000 mile an hour pilot would be cooking in 222 degrees of heat.

Those temperature rises are figured only on the heat generated by friction with the air at high speeds. Actually the temperatures in the cockpit would be increases further by heat from the sun, the pilot's body and aircraft equipment such as radio.

Jet fighters are equipped with a 16-pound refrigerator that can cool the air as much as 500 degrees. It works off the compressed air in the jet engine itself. The air is expanded in a "heat exchanger," which removes about 90 per cent of the heat, and then is used to operate a turbine which removes additional heat.

Such refrigerators cannot be applied to rocket planes like the X-1, the first plane to exceed the speed of sound. However, cockpit heat has not been a critical problem with the X-1 since it flies at its top speeds—reportedly up to 1,100 miles an hour—only a matter of seconds. At its operating altitude the temperature is 67 degrees below zero and the air is very thin, which delays the onset of high friction heat. Heat control will be an important factor in pushing ahead with supersonic speed.

Greek Road Building Pushed

Athens—(P)—Markos has failed in his effort to halt American reconstruction of Greece's highways. This is the opinion of Col. D. W. Griffiths, chief of the Grecian district of the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

He says that during the last few months guerrillas have intensified their assaults on American contractors installations and employees. Twenty-five Greek laborers have been killed in communist raids, ambushes and attacks while working on road projects in the more remote and unprotected areas of Greece. Thirty-six Greek roadworkers have been wounded.

Nearly 400 of the 10,000 Greeks employed on reconstruction projects are "missing," Col. Griffiths reports. He says the "missing" were presumably abducted by the rebels.

The American colonel who has been in Greece more than a year says it is "by sheer luck" that no Americans have been killed or wounded to date. Col. Griffiths says, however, that "on the whole, the value of the property damaged through bandit action and the number of casualties among our labor forces are relatively insignificant."

BY DAWN'S EARLY LIGHT

Cowbirds lay their eggs in the nests of other birds, for the foster parents to take care of, but did you ever catch a cowbird in the act? Few persons have, and there's a reason. Observations show that the female cowbird does her dark deeds in the dim light of early dawn.

Why Hudson Beauty

is more than "skin-deep"

The modern design for '49

The New Hudson—the first and only car you step down into—achieves true streamlining and today's lowest silhouette as the natural result of a basically new design principle available in no other type of automobile!

Every time your eyes linger on a New Hudson, you are admiring beauty as genuine as nature at her glorious best!

For this stunning streamliner has fresh styling that begins deep inside the car with a recessed floor which is the key to the "step-down" design—the exciting idea that opens up new opportunities for genuinely beautiful lines!

Yes, for years it has been widely known that the lower a car can be built, the more beautiful it will be, the better it will ride and handle.

But whenever men have sought to create the ideal in low-built motor cars, without lowering the interior floor, they've had to keep top lines high to preserve inside head room, or reduce inside roominess to get top lines down—an unsatisfactory compromise in either case.

And even with compromises, no car has ever matched the gloriously low silhouette Hudson brings you today!

This is because Hudson—and Hudson alone—has a recessed floor in an exclusive, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame* which makes it possible to build the lowest car on the highway—just five feet from ground to top—but with more head room than in any mass-produced car built today!

The exciting, more than skin-deep beauty of the New Hudson is the natural result of this basic "step-down" construction, which is so right it frees the designer of the need for makeshifts in styling.

We cordially invite you to see and drive the New Hudson. You'll quickly sense that this car is so far ahead it's a protected investment in motor car value.

Trade-mark and patents pending.

*The many advantages in Hudson's "step-down" design are explained in a booklet available at all Hudson dealers.

Engineering and artistic skill, as well as baking prowess, were needed by Austin Wright, master baker for a national food store chain, to build this 200-pound cake. Presented to six state governors at the 24th annual New England Conference in Boston, Mass., the cake features three-dimensional scale models of six New England state capitols, in addition to full color scenes depicting industries in each state. Here Wright puts the finishing touches on the model of Rhode Island's capitol building.

Ways to Save

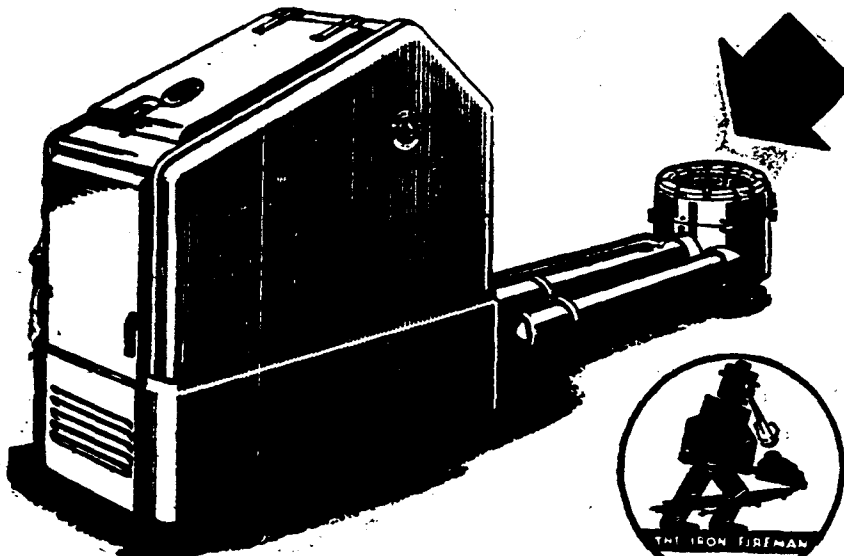

If you were a native of Malaita in the Solomons you would carry your "savings" in a "dilly bag" hung under your arm. Your "wealth" would consist of strings of dog teeth, and betel nuts.

Betel nuts are about the size and color of small limes, and tho they stain the teeth bright red, they are divided into small bits and held in the front of the mouth. The slow trickle of betel juice acts as a stimulant.

Your savings in Malaita would steadily get smaller . . . but here in Jacksonville they constantly grow. Your Jacksonville Savings & Loan Association pays you a profit on your savings, and you can add to them as you please. Stop in and let us explain.

The burning right wing was extinguished before the plane landed under power of the three remaining engines. Only the engine and wing were damaged.

Ator, who has relatives here, and who frequently visits in this city, made a smooth landing after dropping a burning engine while on a flight from Dallas, Texas, to Los Angeles, airline officials reported. A press dispatch from Columbus, N. M., said none of the 41 passengers or four crew members aboard was injured.

R. K. Pfender, airline representative, said the plane, piloted by Ator, landed at a Civil Aeronautics Administration emergency field after the fire had been put out in the air. The landing was smooth. The passengers were returned to El Paso by special plane, and continued on their trip.

Crowd Boos Referee As Woodcock Beats Savold On Decision

By Bill Macklin
London, Dec. 6.—(P)—Bruce Woodcock, British heavyweight champion, beat Lee Savold of Paterson, N. J., on a fourth round foul tonight but the verdict caused an immediate storm of protest.

Dropped in the third round for the count of eight, the Englishman rolled to the canvas again suddenly in the fourth after being struck by a right hand blow.

He clutched his groin, writhing and grimacing, while Savold stood by, frowning in bewilderment.

Referee Sam Russell stepped in quickly and ruled that Savold had struck a low blow. The American was disqualified.

Rafter-rocketing boos poured from the crowd of 11,000 that had assembled in Harrington Arena to watch the ten-round bout which was supposed to produce a summer challenger for Champion Joe Louis.

"It wasn't a low punch," Savold complained afterwards. "It landed on the solar plexus. In any case... it was just a light tap."

Savold's manager, Bill Daly, called Woodcock a "faker" and added: "He knew Lee had him going and that was the only way he could win the fight."

Most of the British boxing writers at the ringside said the blow, if low, was a "light one."

Woodcock, his face still screwed up in pain in his dressing room, said he was "confident all the way through" and he would have won had the fight gone all the way.

As the fight to produce a challenger for Louis, the bout seemed a dismal flop.

(Harry Markson, managing director of the 20th Century Sporting Club in New York, which has Louis under contract, said he could say nothing of future plans for Woodcock or Savold until he learned "more details" of tonight's bout.)

Woodcock's left jab, by far his best weapon, won him the first round in the opinion of most observers. The second round was judged about even, and Savold clearly won the third when he put Woodcock down for eight.

Savold, who was unmarked and breathing easily when the end came, declared the blow which cost him the fight was no more than a "light tap."

"It was not a low punch," he insisted. "It landed on the solar plexus. In any case, there wasn't enough behind it to put Woodcock groveling on the floor. I was turning as I hit him and it was just a light tap."

"I hurt him with a right hand punch earlier in the round, and I really think I could have had him in the next round."

The disappointed crowd cheered the American all the way to his dressing room.

Bill Daly, Savold's manager, asserted "Woodcock is a faker. He knew Lee had him going and that was the only way he could win the fight."

"If they want to kill boxing altogether this is the way to do it."

Illinois Cagers Invade Irish Lair Wednesday Night

By Jerry Linka

Chicago, Dec. 6.—(P)—Big Nine basketball teams, victorious in nine of ten bouts with non-conference opponents, will find the going tougher in this week's 12-game program.

The second week of conference tuning up for the championship race which begins early next month opens with a four-tilt card tonight.

Purdue makes its season debut at home against the University of Detroit. Ohio State entertains Marquette, while Minnesota invades Nebraska. Indiana is host to Michigan State.

Ohio's Buckeyes, victorious over Butler, 61-48, Saturday night, may encounter trouble from a Marquette quintet which forced Wisconsin to play overtime for a 68-63 decision on the Badger court.

Minnesota is in for stiffer competition after a 68-45 opening walk over Western Illinois.

Illinois, after a 67-62 debut decision over Butler Friday night, faces two of the midwest's strongest independents within a three-day span. The Illini visit Notre Dame for the Irish opener Wednesday night. That Saturday night they engage DePaul in a Chicago Stadium double-header which also sends Northwestern against Notre Dame.

A single Thursday night game brings Missouri to Wisconsin where the Badgers will be shooting for their third straight win.

Iowa, also a two-game winner, greets Creighton Saturday night, the same evening Purdue is at Marquette, Xavier at Indiana, and Loyola at Wisconsin.

Waverly Quintet Defeats Ashland By 51-46 Count

Waverly—Coach Lyle King's cagers annexed their first victory here Monday night while putting a kink in visiting Ashland's perfect record of four victories in four starts.

The game, close all the way, ended 51-46.

Forwards Peters and Mitchell shared scoring honors for the home five, bouncing in five goals and a trio of chances at the charity mark for 13 points each. Bergschneider, Ashland center, was the high point man of the evening, though, with 16.

Waverly led all the way and were outscored in only the final frame.

The Ashland juniors copped the opener 27-21.

KEEP ALL NIGHT VIGIL FOR ROSE BOWL SEATS

Berkeley, Calif., Dec. 6.—(P)—Some University of California students brought mattresses and kept an all night vigil in order to be first in line today for Rose Bowl tickets.

The first students, anxious to get the best seats for the California-Northwestern football at Pasadena Jan. 1 arrived outside the ticket office at 11 o'clock last night.

There were 22,700 student tickets available, at $2 each, but those first in line got the better choices.

Cards And Bears Roll To Easy Wins; Boston Upsets Eagles, 37-14

New York, Dec. 6.—(P)—The defending champion Chicago Cardinals invaded the Crosstown lair of the Chicago Bears Sunday to settle the western division argument in the National Football League.

The twin terrors of the Windy City finished their hop-up campaign on the rest of the circuit yesterday. The Cardinals did battle 10 times with out-of-town rivals and whipped them all. The Bears stumbled before Philadelphia's eastern division champs, but licked nine other foes.

Now the Cardinals will be out to avenge their only loss—a 28-17 whipping inflicted by the Bears early in October. That game cost the Cards the services of their ace passer, Paul Christman, most of the season, but the Missouri back is in top form again.

With Christman missing, the Cards developed the most devastating ground attack in the league, spearheaded by Charlie Trippi, Elmer Angsman and Pat Harder.

Neither club got much of a warmup yesterday. The Bears rolled over Detroit, 42 to 14, with Sid Luckman passing for three touchdowns, and the Cardinals crushed Green Bay, 42 to 7.

The All-America Conference has a divisional title to settle Sunday, too. Baltimore's unpredictable Colts forced a special playoff for the new crown by beating Buffalo, 35 to 15. Now the Colts and Bills have to play again at Baltimore for the right to meet Cleveland's western champions.

The Colts saw the Bills score first, but from then on it was strictly a Baltimore show. The decision left the Colts and Buffalo with a season's record of seven victories and seven losses.

In other All-America action Cleveland hung up the first unbeaten season in the league's history by downing Brooklyn, 31 to 21, and San Francisco's Forty-Niners, who could beat everybody but Cleveland, defeated Los Angeles, 38 to 21.

Despite the loss, the Dons furnished the day's brightest individual star, Glenn Dobbs, the one-man game. He topped, gained 405 yards on 27 completed passes and 431 yards altogether, both league records. He set a punting record of 49.1 yards for the season, and gained more yards for the year than anybody else, 2,942.

Good At Baseball; Better As Prep Football Coach

Glenn Allen, Va., Dec. 6.—(P)—Folks told George Gasser he was slightly mad in 1944 when he passed up a promising professional baseball future to coach a country high school football team.

Gasser had earned a promotion to Newark, a New York Yankee farm club, when the coaching offer came along from Glen Allen high school. Despite the wailing of his friends, he grabbed it, along with its lower pay and longer hours.

He has never been sorry—and the friends have changed their tune. Before Gasser's arrival, Glen Allen—with an enrollment of 750—had never won more than two football games in one season.

Since Gasser took over, the Panthers have done passably well. They've won 42 games, tied one, and lost three. There's been some talk that Gasser might leave to accept a college post. But he shakes his head.

"I'd rather live a long life," he says.

Only Three Major College Elevens Unbeaten, Untied

BY WILL GRIMSLEY
New York, Dec. 6.—(P)—Michigan might well be the only major college football team to escape the 1948 season with a perfect record.

The Wolverines have run through their regular string—without defeat or tie—and have no post-season commitments. Their mark is safe.

But the other mighties continue to stub majestic toes. A week ago it was Army, tied 21-21 by hapless Navy. Saturday it was Notre Dame, stunned by a 14-14 draw with underdog Southern California.

The latest turn of events leaves only California and Clemson, besides Michigan, still with unspotted banners. Both go into January bowl games against foes likely to be favored.

The California Bears played rugged Northwestern in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena. Clemson meets Missouri. Big Seven conference runnerup, in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville.

Minnesota Wins Over Nebraska

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 6.—(P)—Big Jim McIntyre and the University of Minnesota outscored Nebraska 61 to 52 in a furious basketball contest here tonight.

McIntyre, the Gophers 6 foot 9 inch center scored 30 points. McIntyre, and a sophomore forward Whitney Skoot scored 17 points, accounted for all but 14 of the Minnesota markers.

The cornhuskers, who played a smooth floor game and pushed the Gophers hard from start to finish, used three centers in an attempt to put a leash on McIntyre.

About 8,000 fans watched Nebraska push to the front several times in the first 10 minutes, then lag as the half ended 31-27 in favor of the Gophers.

High-powered rebound playing, scored 18 points before he fouled out with 10 minutes left to play.

Indiana Tromps Michigan State

Bloomington, Ind., Dec. 6.—(P)—Indiana University's sophomore-sparked basketball team tonight won a 48-36 victory over a Michigan State Quintet that had defeated Northwestern.

Indiana's veteran guard Lou Watson topped the scoring with 12 points but sophomore Bill Tosheff of Gary added 10.

Gene Ring, another I.U. sophomore from South Bend, consistently took the ball off Michigan State's backboard to start the Hoosiers' fast breaks. Center Tom Schwartz of Indiana held State's six-foot, eight-inch Jack Wolf to one field goal and two free throws.

Seven members of state's 17-man squad were from Indiana and a sophomore from Princeton, Ind., James Snodgrass, led the losers with eight points.

Indiana held the Michigan Staters to two field goals in the first 14 minutes and once held a 22-14 margin. The visiting Spartans came back against Hoosier reserves to trail 25-13 at the half.

Snodgrass was head man in a second half Michigan State rally that cut Indiana's margin to 36-30. The Hoosier starters went to work again and pulled out of danger.

CORN DISPLAYS MOST STRENGTH WITH GAINS OF OVER 1c A BU.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—(P)—Corn showed the most strength on the board of trade today. Advances in the yellow cereal ran to more than a cent at times with cash houses active buyers of the December contract.

Wheat sold off toward the close after showing some strength in the early trading. The gains in the forepart of the session were sufficient to send December wheat to a new high since Feb. 4, oats, rye, soybeans and hard were steady.

Cash corn arrivals here totaled 565 cars, which was somewhat lower than recently for Monday. The market also was helped by a statement by Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) favoring a continued high government support levels for agriculture products.

Receipts were: wheat 10 cars, corn 565, oats 27 and soybeans 32.

Wheat closed 1/2 cent lower, to 5 higher December $2.42-42, corn was 1/2 higher, December $1.45, oats were 1/2 lower to 1 higher, December 83 1/2, rye was 1/2 cent higher, December $1.83. Crimsons And Tigers Travel; Routt Plays Host To Chapin Five

Two local basketball teams hit the road, and one elects to play before Jacksonville fans to complete the hardwood picture in town tonight.

Bob Kraushaar's Crimsons enroute for Virden and Spike Wilson's Tigers travel to Perry; while Paul Stroud's quint meets Chapin in the only home game. The Tigers and Rockets are meeting PMBC opponents in Perry and Chapin. The westenders are on top of the conference heap with a win over Routt which put the Rockets in the cellar.

The JHS Crimsons have never tasted defeat in the hands of a Virden outfit. This will be the third time the two quint have met, and in both previous encounters the Crimsons emerged the victor.

Kraushaar will rely on the same group of lads who started the Crimsons fray last week to be in the game at the tip-off. This means Trotter and Chapman will be at the top of the guard post.

Spotis and Bussey at the guard positions. The Jacks' mentor also states that Gene Todd and Gotchall will see plenty of action in this fray. This is the third contest of the season for the Crimsons five, and they'll be gunning for win number three, previously whipping Virginia and Fayetteville.

Paul Blakeman's Chapin basketball team has played five games this year, with their record standing at 2 wins and 3 losses. The Routt quintet was only initiated into hardwood hostilities this winter when it met ISD and defeat on the west-end boards last Friday night. However, the Stroud coached crew has shown constant improvement in recent practice sessions, and will be working for a victory to even up their standing in the PMBC conference.

The Rocket mentor will rely on Kennedy, Spreen, Murphy, Tighe, Longner and Saner to carry the load for the Routt team. Stroud's plans for a starting lineup are still tentative, with his indecision resting in whether to sacrifice speed for height or vice versa.

Hugh Beggs Gives Annual Recital At Music Hall

By Joachim Stenzel

Hugh Beggs was heard in his annual faculty recital at Music Hall on Sunday afternoon and again proved the thoroughly competent pianist and understanding interpreter of great music that we have long known him to be.

Mr. Beggs began with a forceful reading of Bach's English Suite in A-minor, which in its purity and directness formed a most effective foil for the modern work that followed, Hindemith's Second Sonata, which had not been heard here before. The audience enjoyed the intensity and wonderful sonority of this work, but was, I believe, even more impressed by the impassioned rendition of Beethoven's sonata opus 111, the last work by the composer in that form and one of his profoundest.

Mr. Beggs chose works by Chopin and Ravel for the last part of his program and yielded to the audience's insistence for an encore by playing two études by Chopin.

He then decided to go to Alexander to purchase a few groceries at the Kenneth Beup store. Near Island Grove he picked up a young man wearing a navy uniform and headed west.

"Going To Roodhouse"
The hitchhiker said he was stationed at Great Lakes, Ill., and was going to Roodhouse. He seemed pleased to get a ride to Alexander.

Bid His Passenger "Good-bye"
Mr. Bergschneider parked his car and went into the store. A few seconds later he decided to roll a cigarette and recalled that he had left his car of Prince Albert on the front seat of the car. It was gone and the sailor wasn't around, either.

He telephoned Morgan county police, who relayed the message to the state highway patrolmen. Skids On Pavement
A few minutes later Mrs. Bergschneider and her neighbors heard a speeding car crash into the telephone pole. They saw a sailor get out and head for the business district, ostensibly for help.

Other residents saw a man in naval garb inspecting some of the cars parked in front of the Catholic church. He got into one and drove away. When the Frank Promme family got out of church they discovered their car was gone. No one observed which way the sailor left New Berlin the third time.

W. L. Fay Named City Attorney After Hall Submits Resignation

Attorney W. L. Fay of the firm of Bellatti, Arnold & Fay was appointed city attorney last night to succeed Albert W. Hall, who tendered his resignation as of Dec. 1 because of his election to the office of state's attorney.

Mayor Hoagland presented the name of Mr. Fay, after which his appointment was confirmed by the council on motion of Alderman Baker, seconded by Alderman Weaver.

Attorney Hall submitted his resignation in writing, but was present to personally thank the council for its courtesies and express pleasure in serving the city both before and after World War II. His resignation was accepted on motion of Alderman Henderson, seconded by Alderman Kelly.

Attorney Fay has served the past year as state's attorney, and prior to that time as assistant while the office was held by Oscar Zachary, who resigned on his removal to Florida. The new city attorney will assume duty at the next meeting.

A discussion of parking regulations in the business district was touched off by Alderman Kelly, who said the five cents which many violators deposit in a meter-head at the police station is not enough. He recommended that a 25 cent fee be charged against violators who are not required to appear in the police magistrate's court.

Kelly said that 57 overtime parking tickets were issued by patrolmen Monday, after which 44 drivers were ordered by the tickets. The council indicated that overtime parking will cost more after Jan. 1, or sooner in cases in which there appears to have been deliberate violation.

A report of wind damage to three houses owned by the city in the Lake Jacksonville area was submitted by Alderman Henderson of the insurance committee. He said the strong wind Sunday played havoc with shingle roofs on the Boston and Chapman houses, and at one other structure.

The insurance committee chairman said companies had been contacted and the committee was instructed to proceed with repair work.

A resolution to pay claims on the Beasley avenue water improvement project, which was repealed several months ago, was introduced by Alderman Kelly, and passed after his motion, seconded by Alderman Baker.

Two Leases Renewed
The council voted to renew the lease of pasture land near Lake Jacksonville to Frank Hemmrough, Jr., for one year at a rental of $100. The resolution was adopted on motion of Alderman Kelly, seconded by Alderman Weaver.

A small tract on the lakeshore just west of the caretaker's home was leased to Patrick L. Crossen for a three year period at an annual rental of $125. Mr. Crossen has conducted the boating and refreshment concession at the lake for the past year. He also operates a bait service for fishermen. The lease was authorized on motion of Alderman Kelly, seconded by Alderman Costello.

Kenneth Stapleton of the engineering firm of Casler & Stapleton informed the council that installation of the new generating unit at the municipal light plant is nearing completion. The big motor probably will be placed in service next week.

A report of the garage committee was made for November by Alderman Henderson. City-owned vehicles consumed 902 gallons of gas and 73 quarts of oil.

The council voted on motion of Alderman Henderson, seconded by Alderman Kelly, to authorize the water committee to sell an old tractor to an individual or firm submitting the highest offer. The tractor has been out of service for some months.

Conservation Farming 'Profitable To Everyone'

By The Journal Courier Farm Editor

"There's a lot of punch economically to the soil conservation program," said Darryl R. Francis, agricultural economist for the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, when he addressed members of the West Central Illinois Soil Conservation council at its meeting at Farm Bureau hall Monday.

"It concerns more than the farmers of any one area. It includes every person living there," he asserted.

"If there was a possibility of a new factory coming to say, Jacksonville that would provide employment for 480 persons at a weekly wage of $40, nearly everybody would be excited. And they should be, for it would bring an added income of $1,000,000 to the community.

Would Bring Wealth
"Yet our experiences demonstrate that if only one-third of the farms in a county the size of Morgan would adopt a sound, long-range conservation program they would bring in, at 75 cents a bushel for corn, as much extra revenue as the new factory. Best of all, it would enhance the valuation of the entire county," Mr. Francis asserted.

The St. Louis specialist spoke to soil conservation district board members, technicians and the farm advisers from this area. The president, Warren Brockhouse of Concord, presided.

Mr. Francis cautioned his listeners not to use "the scare approach" in their quest to add to the list of farmers who utilize their land according to its capacity and conserve both soil and water resources.

Factual Approach Better
"A factual approach is much better, I believe," he continued. "In our experience there has not been a single long range, well-planned program that has proved unprofitable."

"It takes about eight years to complete the terraces, grass waterways, structures, drainage and the application of needed minerals that go to make up a good program. The average return in those eight years has been $2.71 for each $1 spent."

The program not only produced a higher net income for the farm, he said, but in every case it has increased the appraised value of the farm.

The speaker illustrated his remarks with a case history of a 267 acre farm in Buchanan county, Missouri, "about 200 miles west of Jacksonville and with soils similar to the rolling land of this area."

After half of the topsoil had been lost, a new owner adopted a conservation program estimated to cost $9,600 in ten years. At a 75 cent a bushel for corn price level, it should return $15,000 within that period. Now four years old, the program "is even with the estimates."

"He is keeping his soil and water at home. The different soil types require three different rotations. It looks as though a sick farm is going to get well," Mr. Francis said.

He showed a group of pictures of the farm immediately after its acres, already soaked by the spring rains of 1947, received a two and one-half inch deluge. The terraces and grass waterways kept the soil at home; run-off water was clear. Photographs of adjoining farms showed the terrible havoc caused by the "near flash flood."

A discussion of the installation and maintenance of grass waterways was held Monday morning. Speakers on the subject included John T. Whelan of Jacksonville, district conservationist; Edward Carl of Cass county; Giles L. Carr and Paul J. Warrick of Quincy, J. H. Allison of Calhoun county and Mr. Brockhouse.

Secretary Kenneth Stark of Nebo announced that the next meeting will be held in Pittsfield on Feb. 20.
